London, Jan. 1. (By United Press)—The Peninsular and Oriental liner Persia was sunk by a submarine in the Mediterranean Thursday afternoon with a loss of life estimated at from 75 to 200. At least two Americans, United States consul to Aden, Robert N. Neely, and Charles H. Grant, were on board. Their fate is unknown. The Persia was torpedoed south east of the island of Crete enroute from London. That she sank in a few minutes indicated by the report that only four of her boats succeeded in getting away. They carry less than half of the Persia's 231 passengers and crew of more than 100, according to first reports received here today. The survivors were picked up by a steamer enroute at Alexandria and were expected to reach the port late today.

London, Jan. 1. The Peninsular and Oriental liner Persia flying the British flag was sunk in the Mediterranean presumably by a submarine. Dispatches today indicated many lives have been lost. On four boatloads of passenger sand cleared from the sinking liner. The sinking of the British steamer Aden by a submarine was also announced. The Persia was enroute from London to Bombay. She is a large vessel, only slightly smaller than the Ancona.

The first message received here contained no details of the sinking of the liner leaving in doubt as to whether she had attempted to escape or had been torpedoed without warning assuming that she was sent to the bottom by a submarine. At the London offices of the Peninsular and Oriental company it was stated that no word has been heard from the liner since Tuesday.

All the information available was contained in the one dispatch stating that only four of her boats managed to clear. In all likelihood, they said, the number of survivors are considerably less than 100.

The liner was well equipped with boats, said one official. "The very fact that only four of her boats managed to clear proved to face that the boat sunk rapidly and apparently with a large loss of life. We are in hopes, however, that early reports were exaggerated."

Washington, Jan. 1.—Robert McNeely, United States consul to Aden, was on the liner Persia, sunk in the Mediterranean, it was learned by the state department. McNeely's home is in Monroe, North Carolina. He was on his way to the port to which he was recently appointed.

Secretary Lansing said that he would await official advice concerning the sinking of the vessel before he took action, but all efforts would be concentrated to learn if McNeely is dead. State department officials did not dispute the fact that the news is of tremendous importance bearing on submarine issues.

If the American diplomat met his death by the attack upon the Persia it promises to make one of the most acute and serious issues which this government has yet met. President Wilson and Secretary Lansing gave the incident their personal attention. The President was promptly sent every scrap of information received at the state capital. He refuses, however to comment on the situation.

Nov. 4—Stephen J. Field, who served for more than forty years as associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. Born at Haddam, Conn.

THREATENED STRIKE OF WOMEN BAKERS UNIQUE IN HISTORY

Striking For The Return of Husbands From Trenches To Their Bake Ovens

Neither Higher Wages nor Shorter Hours are Demanded—Ultimatum Has Just Been Delivered to Government.

BY WILLIAM-PHILIP SIMMS (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Dec. 21.—(By Mail).—The women bakers of France have just threatened the government with a strike that would be unique in the world's history. Neither shorter hours nor increased pay is demanded. All they want is their husbands, and they insist that unless those husbands are recalled from the colors and restored to their bake ovens, they will quit and starve the government into acquiescence.

The ultimatum of the women bakers has just been delivered to the government by a committee headed by Madame Preleux, of Arcueil-Cachan, president of the Ligue des Boulangeres, or women bakers' union. She supplemented the complaint with 2,500 letters from women bakers who declare they can no longer face their present trials without the aid of their husbands.

Home made bread is unknown in France. The business of baking is extensive and all-essential. Nine out of ten small businesses are jointly conducted by husband and wife, and the occupation of baker is one that lends itself peculiarly to this arrangement.

With the call to the colors of all the men bakers, the wives and daughters took up the businesses. Baking was one of the industries unaffected by the war. If anything it increased, as much of the population has been reduced to the consumption of bread as the principal article of diet.

The women were obliged to bake the bread and deliver it to an entire community. After fifteen months of such trials, they declare they can endure it no longer.

The decision of the women was made after they had outlined a plan showing how it could be done in accordance with patriotism and forethought for the army. Their resolutions declared that the army above all must have the best bread possible. Flour of the highest quality, they admit, is provided by the government, but a waste of this and a defective bread, they say comes from the employment as army bakers of non-professionals. They insist that the government supplant the latter with professionals first by calling out of the regiments professional bakers serving in the line and secondly by calling to the colors bakers who for one reason or another have escaped military service, of whom there are sufficient, they say, to provide the army with all the professional bakers necessary, while their own husbands serving at the front could come home and resume work of supplying the civil population. The petition concludes:

"For a long time we have concealed our anguish from our husbands in order not to cause them either worry or discouragement at the front. They are loyal French men, determined to sacrifice everything for the deliverance of the fatherland. And we are loyal French women determined to make the same sacrifice."

"Our husbands are mobilized and we consider ourselves equally mobilized, like soldiers, to the fire of ovens. For fifteen months we have given evidence of this by an exhausting labor, a patience, a devotedness and a disinterestedness without limit."

"Today there is not a one of us who can continue. We are at the end of our forces. We have fought desperately but we can hold out no longer. Our situation from being lamentable has become critical. It is useless for us to discuss with ourselves or to ask ourselves if we can keep going still a little longer. The fact that we can not is only too apparent."

"We will close instead our shops one by one. If relief of some sort does not come to us we will be compelled to close all our shops either through lack of help, through our excessive fatigue or through lack of resources."

PECULIAR FACTS ABOUT WELL-KNOWN PEOPLE.

Washington, Jan. 1.—Senator Tillman's voice has become so feeble that he can scarcely be heard in the senate chamber. He leans wearily against his desk as he speaks. Tillman's once energetic manner earned him the title of "Pitchfork Ben."

PROSPEROUS YEAR FOR THE MINES OF THE UNITED STATES

Review Confirms Statement of Secretary Lane That Mining Revival Is in Full Swing

Large Increases in Iron, Gold, Silver and Coal—Without Exception, Best Year in the Western States.

The midyear review of mining conditions reported to the Secretary of the Interior on July 1 by the Director of the United States Geological Survey is well supported by the preliminary reports for the year submitted today. The Geological Survey is making public its usual estimate of mineral production for 1915 in the form of a separate statement for each of the more important mineral products.

A review of these statements confirms Secretary Lane's estimate of last July to the effect that the mining revival is in full swing. In the Western States alone the metal production shows an increase in value of more than $130,000,000 over the corresponding figures for 1914; and the year's increase in output for the principal metals measured in value is more than $250,000,000. Moreover it is not reasonable to expect that when the full returns for all mineral products are compiled they will show that 1915 was the country's most productive year in the mining industry. The total may even reach two and one-half billion dollars.

In the response to bettered conditions the production figures for copper, iron and zinc show the largest increase.

Large Increase in Iron

The total shipments of iron ore from the mines in the United States in 1915 are estimated to have exceeded 55,000,000 gross tons, an increase over 1914 of more than 35 cent. Based on the same price as received in 1914 this represents a increase in total value of about 645,000. The increase in pig iron estimated as 6,500,000 tons, total increase in value of production of more than $11 million.

Gold and Silver Increase

The annual preliminary report on the production of gold in the United States, from the United States Geological Survey and the bureau of the Census, is not complete, but reports from the various states show an increase in the production of gold in 1915 of about 10 per cent. The increase in the production of silver is also about 10 per cent. The increase in the production of copper is about 10 per cent. The increase in the production of zinc is about 10 per cent. THE FIRST OF JANUARY

In each of us turns a leaf of the calendar. When a door opens and finds himself across the new year. Does that entrance into a different house of life effect a change in his perceptibly. The old habits cling tenaciously that have attached themselves in a slip. The various devils that people our life with a reckless fury before they are banished. It was our fixed purpose to be the same when the sun rises, the same man in the environment it changed.

Resolution one part fiction. While we like to think of ourselves as like an ex-pilgrims mainly living in the new year. We ended

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

"Men-of-war, large and small, definitely colored transports, laden with troops; and a never-ending line of war-requisitioned freighters, day by day, slip out of Portsmouth, the first naval harbor of the world's greatest naval power, bearing their reinforcements to all of the troubled seas of Europe, Asia and Africa," begins a primer on war geography just issued by the National Geographic Society. "The burdens and responsibilities of this English port have grown enormous since the outbreak of the war; for it, like German Kiel, symbolizes the mighty, vital naval effort of a great group of powers in the greatest war of history."

"Very little has been written about Portsmouth, the war-port; for the laborers and planning that have taken place there have been much too important, much too intimately bound up with the hopes and the aims of the Entente Allies, to be trumpeted abroad. A veil of military exclusiveness has been drawn over the fearful stress and turmoil of Portsmouth, hiding the nature of its giant's tasks, the details of its multitudinous enterprises, and the significance of its achievements. One remembers, however, that Portsmouth is the chief naval arsenal and port of Britain, the heart of the Allied Powers triumphant rule upon the seas."

"Situated in Hampshire, at a central point in England's southern coast, about 74 miles southwest of London, Portsmouth is both sheltered and well-placed to serve the Empire's naval needs on whatever ocean. Probably first on the roll of the world's naval bases, the English port, an aggregate of four towns, possesses a splendid harbor, and one that has been developed as a base for English naval power through more than five centuries. Portsmouth has the most complete and impregnable fortifications in England; for it is a master nerve-center in the Empire's life and dominion."

"Portsmouth, Portsea, Landport and Southsea are the towns which join to form the port, and they are all located on Portsea Island. Portsmouth proper is the garrison town; Portsea is the naval station, with dry-docks, great dock-yards, torpedo and gun-mounting stores, electrical shops, and innumerable subsidiary shops; while Landport is occupied by the home of the artisans. Southsea has enjoyed a steady growth in fame as a fashionable watering place."

"The port is defended by a powerful ring of landward forts, the Portsmouth forts and the Hilson lines; and by the Spithead forts to the seaward. The anchorage of Spithead is roomy enough to ride the great fleets of England, scores of boats safe in the shelter of the Isle of Wight."

"Richard I built the first town there, influenced to his foundation solely by reasons of strategy. The fostering care of King Henry VIII and Queen Elizabeth first brought the port into importance; and its importance as a naval harbor has grown steadily ever since, keeping pace with the growth of the Empire."

ELECTRICAL MARVEL AIDS HEALTH WORK

hundred and twenty thousand babies born each year during the same period more than one hundred years ago. The complete record of every birth and every death is a vital statistic of the State Department of Health.

hundreds of thousands of records which pass through the health authorities are able to keep track of the and send their labors toward reducing the mortality soon as the records are received. A punch card with need on each certificate of birth and death is made by an electric machine of almost superhuman ingenuity according to the various facts. The thousands of cards which go trickling through this mechanical sorting to age, color, parentage, nationality, or sex at these cards are then sorted and counted and from these are made up. From these Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, and his various subordinates are enabled to keep condition of the health throughout the Commonwealth.

OLONIUS OLD YEAR'S ADVICE TO SON PRESENTED

Laertes Nymetean Sixteen Receives Advice From Father

Eternity Hall, Eternity, Dec. 31.—(By United Press.)—A copy of Polonius Old Year's advice to his son, Laertes Nymetean Sixteen, was presented to the United Press correspondent by Father Time here late today. It reads:

"My son, I stand upon the threshold of Oblivion, wherein I soon shall vanish never to return. My legacy to you is a sadly disorganized world; and I trust that you will faithfully and better administer it than have I. You will have many things to contend with, but take them easy. A menagerie, led by a Donkey, an Elephant and a Bull Moose will chase the Winged Rooster of Victory up and down your days to the jaws of November. Heed them not. Men with peace missions they don't know what to do with will try to settle a war being fought for reasons no one has discovered. Let them go. The Panama Canal may slide all over South America and Col. Goethals' conversation will sound like a frequent reference to the Gatun Dam. Let him alone. Cupid may pretend to scorn Romance and be engrossed in Eugenics. Tell him that Europe needs babies. Let the War Dogs chase their own tails until the Peace Dove sheds some of its courtplaster. Then cautiously look about and see what you can do to fix things up. George Bernard Shaw, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Lord Northcliffe, W. J. Bryan and Vesuvius are subject to eruption at any time. There's nothing you can do to stop any of them. Remember that styles, suffrage, the tariff and sample mustaches you have always with you. Do the best you can with all these things and remember that however powerful and able you feel in this your youth, on the 365th day of your reign you will be weary and old and worn. Your robes, once white, will be draggled and torn and stained, as flapping rags about your withered legs. Your hand palsied, your step halt, your eyes dim, you will die; and the World will go on. So take it easy, and don't get excited. If you sign for a Place in the Sun, let it be on a park bench on a summer afternoon. Do these things in calm judgment and you may accomplish more than you expect."

Forever affectionately yours, THE OLD YEAR.

HOW TO BE STRONG AND FAT
The trouble with most thin people who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You can not get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat. Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This masterpiece of modern science is called Tonoline and has been termed the "elixir of flesh-builders." Tonoline through its regenerative, reconstructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 30 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Tonoline is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Tonoline costs only $1.00 for a 15 days' treatment. Mail orders filled by American Proprietary Co., Boston, Mass.

TALK ON BEAUTIFYING URBAN COMMUNITIES GIVEN

Washington, Dec. 31.—United Press.)—Rural planning which will do for the great stretching open country what city planning has done to preserve and extend beauties and comforts of urban communities, was advocated before the American Civic Society today by Prof. Frank A. Waugh, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

Country people in every state, he declared, are living in comfortable and inconvenient homes using unsightly and inefficient roads and schools and dying of circulatory diseases because there has not been adequate planning of country areas.

"Why should anyone care for hydra-headed panacea gardens in the front farm yard," he asked, "while the side yard, where the family ought to live, is strewn with rotting farm machinery, the yard reeks and the pestilential air gives up water succulent with the drainage from the kitchen sink."

PITTSBURGH TO LIVE IMPORTANT OF TOURNEY

Pittsburgh, Jan. 1.—(By United Press.)—Pittsburgh will have a golf tournament of national importance next season. Dawson Herron, of Princeton, secretary of the Intercollegiate Golf Association, who made the announcement that the annual championships will be held next September at the Oakmont Country Club.

Practically all the big eastern colleges will be represented. It is possible that several of the big western schools will also enter. The first two days of the meet will be taken up by playing of elimination matches. The balance of the week will be given over to individual intercollegiate championship.

FIGHT ON LIQUOR LICENSES IN COUNTY STARTS SOON

Clearfield County Temperance League Committee Meets Last Night

The Clearfield executive committee of the Clearfield County Temperance League held an important meeting last night in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. at which six members were present. The meeting was held for the purpose of making the arrangements for distributing the remonstrances against the granting of liquor licenses to the hotels of Clearfield, and to the wholesalers and breweries of Clearfield county.

Several thousand remonstrances against the licenses have been printed and will soon be taken around by the temperance workers to get the signatures of all their co-workers. These remonstrances will be made up in every town in the county and an organized fight on liquor will be made this year at license court, which will start about the middle of January. A fight will also be made on the wholesalers and breweries.

DOCTORS' SANITARY DUNGEON

More than half a million boys and girls who attend the country schools in Pennsylvania are to receive the benefits of medical inspection this year. More than a thousand physicians throughout the state, under the supervision of Commissioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon are now at work examining these children and reporting as to the sanitary conditions of the schoolhouses where they spend so large a portion of their days.

Of the 2,377 fourth-class school districts in the state 2,201 will receive medical inspection this year. In the five years since the first legislative provision was made for the work, it has more than tripled and school directors who at first opposed it, have come to be the staunchest supporters of the movement. It is well known that backward pupils hamper the advancement of all of their fellows. Thus, in addition to helping the individual pupil, this work has increased the general efficiency of the schools in general.

Mellon of this city is down in Belgrade, Serbia getting ready in the midst of war for his marriage to Miss Lagaria Cabo, said to be one of the uncrowned queens of that devastated little land. Dr. Mellon, twice decorated for his work with the American Ambulance in the Turkish camps of Serbia; first by Crown Prince Alexander and then by the American Red Cross, has gone back to Serbia with another hospital command commission. Dr. Mellon met Miss Cabo in the course of his first hospital work in Serbia. She was not, however, a nurse. Just a visitor. As Dr. Mellon's wife, Miss Cabo will help him in his hospital work, which they expect to continue until the war is ended. Dr. Mellon continued his wooing by letter and cable when he recently was recalled from Serbia by the Red Cross. Miss Cabo's father lost practically all his fortune in the second Balkan War. The act provides for the health, safety and welfare of minors. It forbids their employment in certain establishments, restricts their hours of labor, regulates conditions and provides for their education in continuation schools. This last is something of an innovation. It shall be unlawful to employ any minor between 14 and 16 years, unless the child attends school at least eight hours a week. The school must be approved by the state superintendent of public instruction. Children employed on the farm or in domestic service in private homes are exempt from the provisions of the act.

Pity the Man Who Doesn't Advertise!

By GREEN.

"I have an established business. I don't require advertising."

That is the answer of some self satisfied man to a request for advertising. Meanwhile his progressive neighbor is using printer's ink lavishly.

The result is obvious. It's only a question of time. The self satisfied business man soon finds his trade disappearing. His progressive neighbor goes ahead with leaps and bounds. Every business, no matter how firmly established, needs advertising. If it isn't advertised it soon will be in a rut. Don't get in a rut. Advertise.

London, Jan. 1.—(By United Press.)—The Peninsular and Oriental liner Persia was sunk by a submarine in the Mediterranean Thursday afternoon with a loss of life estimated at from 75 to 200. At least two Americans, United States consul to Aden, Robert N. Neely, and Charles H. Grant, were on board. Their fate is unknown. The Persia was torpedoed south east of the island of Crete en route from London. That she sank in a few minutes indicated by the report that only four of her boats succeeded in getting away. They carry less than half of the Persia's 231 passengers and crew of more than 100, according to first reports received here today. The survivors were picked up by a steamer en route at Alexandria and were expected to reach the port late today.

London, Jan. 1.—The Peninsular and Oriental liner Persia flying the British flag was sunk in the Mediterranean presumably by a submarine. Dispatches today indicated many lives have been lost. On four boatloads of passenger and crew cleared from the sinking liner. The sinking of the British steamer Aden by a submarine was also announced. The Persia was en route from London to Bombay. She is a large vessel, only slightly smaller than the Ancona.

The first message received here contained no details of the sinking of the liner leaving in doubt as to whether she had attempted to escape or had been torpedoed without warning assuming that she was sent to the bottom by a submarine. At the London offices of the Peninsular and Oriental company it was stated that no word has been heard from the liner since Tuesday.

All the information available was contained in the one dispatch stating that only four of her boats managed to clear. In all likelihood, they said, the number of survivors are considerably less than 100.

The liner was well equipped with boats, said one official. "The very fact that only four of her boats managed to clear proved to face that the boat sunk rapidly and apparently with a large loss of life. We are in hopes, however, that early reports were exaggerated."

Washington, Jan. 1.—Robert McNeely, United States consul to Aden, was on the liner Persia, sunk in the Mediterranean, it was learned by the state department. McNeely's home is in Monroe, North Carolina. He was on his way to the port to which he was recently appointed.

Secretary Lansing said that he would await official advice concerning the sinking of the vessel before he took action, but all efforts would be concentrated to learn if McNeely is dead. State department officials did not dispute the fact that the news is of tremendous importance bearing on submarine issues.

If the American diplomat met his death by the attack upon the Persia it promises to make one of the most acute and serious issues which this government has yet met. President Wilson and Secretary Lansing gave the incident their personal attention. The President was promptly sent every scrap of information received at the state capital. He refuses, however, to comment on the situation.

THREATENED STRIKE OF WOMEN BAKERS UNIQUE IN HISTORY

Striking For The Return of Husbands From Trenches To Their Bake Ovens

BY WILLIAM-PHILIP SIMMS (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Dec. 21.—(By Mail.)—The women bakers of France have just threatened the government with a strike that would be unique in the world's history. Neither shorter hours nor increased pay is demanded. All they want is their husbands, and they insist that unless those husbands are recalled from the colors and restored to their bake ovens, they will quit and starve the government into acquiescence.

The ultimatum of the women bakers has just been delivered to the government by a committee headed by Madame Preleux, of Arcueil-Cachan, president of the Ligue des Boulangères, or women bakers' union. She supplemented the complaint with 2,500 letters from women bakers who declare they can no longer face their present trials without the aid of their husbands.

Home made bread is unknown in France. The business of baking is extensive and all-essential. Nine out of ten small businesses are jointly conducted by husband and wife, and the occupation of baker is one that lends itself peculiarly to this arrangement.

With the call to the colors of all the men bakers, the wives and daughters took up the businesses. Baking was one of the industries unaffected by the war. If anything it increased, as much of the population has been reduced to the consumption of bread as the principal article of diet.

The women were obliged to bake the bread and deliver it to an entire community. After fifteen months of such trials, they declare they can endure it no longer.

The decision of the women was made after they had outlined a plan showing how it could be done in accordance with patriotism and forethought for the army. Their resolutions declared that the army above all must have the best bread possible. Flour of the highest quality, they admit, is provided by the government, but a waste of this and a defective bread, they say comes from the employment as army bakers of non-professionals. They insist that the government supplant the latter with professionals first by calling out of the regiments professional bakers serving in the line and secondly by calling to the colors bakers who for one reason or another have escaped military service, of whom there are sufficient, they say, to provide the army with all the professional bakers necessary, while their own husbands serving at the front could come home and resume work of supplying the civil population. The petition concludes:

"For a long time we have concealed our anguish from our husbands in order not to cause them either worry or discouragement at the front. They are loyal French men, determined to sacrifice everything for the deliverance of the fatherland. And we are loyal French women determined to make the same sacrifice."

"Our husbands are mobilized and we consider ourselves equally mobilized, like soldiers, to the fire of ovens. For fifteen months we have given evidence of this by an exhausting labor, a patience, a devotedness and a disinterestedness without limit."

"Today there is not a one of us who can continue. We are at the end of our forces. We have fought desperately but we can hold out no longer. Our situation from being lamentable has become critical. It is useless for us to discuss with ourselves or to ask ourselves if we can keep going still a little longer. The fact that we can not is only too apparent."

"We will close instead our shops one by one. If relief of some sort does not come to us we will be compelled to close all our shops either through lack of help, through our excessive fatigue or through lack of resources."

NEW YEAR'S BALL AT THE DIMELING COMPLETE SUCCESS

Largest and Most Elaborate Affair Given During the Holiday Season

More Than One Hundred Couples Attend the Dance—Feature of Evening was Buffet Supper Served on Ball Room Floor.

The New Year's eve dance given last evening in the Dimeling hotel ball room was undoubtedly the largest and most elaborate of the holiday social season, which it closed. More than one hundred couples were present, including numerous guests from many of the surrounding towns.

Great preparations were made for this dance by the hotel management. A unique feature of the evening was the delightful buffet supper, served on the dancing floor. Many small tables, seating four, were placed along one side of the floor and in the balcony and were decorated with small beautiful cabaret lamps. Other decorations were arranged through the room.

Kittering's orchestra from Greensburg, well known here, furnished the music for the affair. The dance was a complete success and all present spent a most enjoyable evening.

The following is a list of the out of town guests:

Misses Betty Cricks, Helen Munch, Helen Morris, Hattie Pentz, Messrs. Edgar Eisman, Hugh Ryan, Edward Morris, Irwin Shaw, Jack Herrington, Andy Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howard and Spencer Free, of DuBois; J. H. Mender, of Sanford, Fla.; H. L. William Butler acted as toastmaster and made several very appropriate toasts. Other members of the crowd also made speeches for the amusement of others present. Following the banquet a few songs, led by Chief McHenry were sung. A most enjoyable evening was spent by all present, including the interested spectators.

Those present were: W. W. Waple, Ross Babb, Joseph Steagner, Oscar Barratt, A. P. Walker, Fred Beech, Lewis Bonner, "Piney" Rook, Robert Leap, William Butler, Thomas Reilly, Frank Shugarts, Joseph Ross, Raymond Reed, Charles Bumbarger, Walter Camper, Chief McHenry and James Corrigan.

PROSPEROUS YEAR FOR THE MINES OF THE UNITED STATES

Review Confirms Statement of Secretary Lane That Mining Revival Is in Full Swing

Large Increases in Iron, Gold, Silver and Coal—Without Exception, Best Year in the Western States.

The midyear review of mining conditions reported to the Secretary of the Interior on July 1 by the Director of the United States Geological Survey is well supported by the preliminary reports for the year submitted today. The Geological Survey is making public its usual estimate of mineral production for 1915 in the form of a separate statement for each of the more important mineral products.

A review of these statements confirms Secretary Lane's estimate of last July to the effect that the mining revival is in full swing. In the Western States alone the metal production shows an increase in value of more than $130,000,000 over the corresponding figures for 1914; and the year's increase in output for the principal metals measured in value is more than $250,000,000. Moreover it is not reasonable to expect that when the full returns for all mineral products are compiled they will show that 1915 was the country's most productive year in the mining industry. The total may even reach two and one-half billion dollars.

In the response to bettered conditions the production figures for copper, iron and zinc show the largest increase.

Large Increase in Iron
The total shipments of iron ore from the mines in the United States in 1915 are estimated to have exceeded 55,000,000 gross tons, an increase over 1914 of more than 35 per cent. Based on the same price as received in 1914 this represents a increase in total value of about $45,000,000. The increase in production is estimated as $500,000 tons, total increase in value of production of more than $100,000,000.

Gold and Silver Increase
The annual preliminary report on the production of gold in the United States, from the United States Geological Survey and the bureau of the Yat complete, but reports from an increase in that of 1914 of gold, principally from Alaska, and an increase in silver of fully 4 per cent from Montana. This increase in bringing 1915 up to 1909, when the country was near its peak.

Small Coal Increase
The production of coal and anthracite have increased about 10 per cent. The coal mined in 1915 was 1,100,000,000 tons and increased over 2 per cent over 1914. Owing mainly to export coal and making, the output from West Virginia, has increased little change is reported from other states. In Ohio, including the new mines, shows a general decline in output.

Best Year in the Year's Record
Perhaps the best year's record of metal mining in the United States is almost without exception in several states year on record. Leads in copper, metal exceeded the production of 1914. In silver the largest yield in one exception in Montana and Arizona of silver are reported the increased production especially copper more prosperous year when Fairbanks and their greatest from bonanza place.

Conciliatory Virtual Settlement of Ancona

Pledge Given By Austria In Germany Considered No Word of Honor

NO IMMEDIATE REPLY TO NO

Washington, Jan. 1.—(By United Press.)—The United States ship of state today entered the diplomatic seas of the new year apparently free from danger of submarine attacks. In the midst of most active revival of Austro-German undersea warfare the American government today enjoyed virtual settlement of submarine issues with Germany and Austria. The Ancona case was regarded as in effect a closed incident. German Ambassador Bernstorff and Secretary of State Lansing were rapidly approaching complete settlement of the Lusitania affair.

possibilities of this English port are growing enormous since the outbreak of the war; for it, like German ports, symbolizes the mighty, vital effort of a great group of peoples in the greatest war of history.

Very little has been written about Portsmouth, the war-port; for the errors and planning that have taken place there have been much too important, much too intimately bound with the hopes and the aims of Entente Allies, to be trumpeted abroad. A veil of military exclusiveness has been drawn over the fearful stress and turmoil of Portsmouth; the nature of its giant's tasks, the details of its multitudinous enterprises, and the significance of its achievements. One remembers, however, that Portsmouth is the chief arsenal and port of Britain, the nerve of the Allied Powers triumphant rule upon the seas.

Situated in Hampshire, at a point in England's southern coast, about 74 miles southwest of London, Portsmouth is both sheltered and well-placed to serve the Empire.

Portsmouth, Portsea, Landport and Southsea are the towns which join to form the port, and they are located on Portsea Island. Portsmouth proper is the garrison town. Portsea is the naval station, with dry-docks, great dock-yards, torpedo and gun-mounting stores, electric shops, and innumerable subsidiary shops; while Landport is occupied by the home of the artisans. Southsea has enjoyed a steady growth in fame as a fashionable watering place.

The port is defended by a powerful ring of landward forts, the Portsdown forts and the Hilson lines; and by the Spithead forts to the seaward. The anchorage of Spithead is roomy enough to ride the great fleets of England, scores of boats safe in the shelter of the Isle of Wight.

"Richard I built the first town there," influenced to his foundation solely by reasons of strategy. The fostering care of King Henry VIII and Queen Elizabeth first brought the port into importance; and its importance as a naval harbor has grown steadily ever since, keeping pace with the growth of the Empire."

My legacy to you is a sadly disorganized world; and I trust that you will faithfully and better administer it than have I. You will have many things to contend with, but take them easy. A menagerie, led by a Donkey, an Elephant and a Bull Moose, will chase the Winged Rooster of Victory up and down your days to the jaws of November. Heed them not. Men with peace missions they don't know what to do with will try to settle a war being fought for reasons no one has discovered. Let them go. The Panama Canal may slide all over South America and Col. Goethals' conversation will sound like a frequent reference to the Gatum Dumb. Let him alone. Cupid may pretend to scorn Romance and be engrained in Eugene. Tell him that Europe needs babies. Let the War Dogs chase their own tails until the Peace Dove sheds some of its courtplaster. Then cautiously look about and see what you can do to fix things up. George Bernard Shaw, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Lord Northcliffe, W. J. Bryan and Jesus are subject to eruption at any time. There's nothing you can do to stop any of them. Remember that styles, suffrage, the tariff and sample mustaches you have always with you. Do the best you can with all these things and remember that however powerful and able you feel at this your youth, on the 366th day of your reign you will be weary and old and worn. Your robes, once white, will be dragged and torn and stained, as flapping rags about your withered legs. Your hand palsied, your step halt, your eyes dim, you will die; and the World will go on. Take it easy, and don't get excited. You sign for a Place in the Sun, sit on a park bench on a summer afternoon. Do these things in my judgment and you may accomplish more than you expect.

FIGHT ON LIQUOR LICENSES IN COUNTY STARTS SOON

Clearfield County Temperance League Committee Meets Last Night

The Clearfield executive committee of the Clearfield County Temperance League held an important meeting last night in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. at which six members were present. The meeting was held for the purpose of making the arrangements for distributing the remonstrances against the granting of liquor licenses to the hotels of Clearfield, and to the wholesalers and breweries of Clearfield county.

Several thousand remonstrances against the licenses have been printed and will soon be taken around by the temperance workers to get the signatures of all their co-workers. These remonstrances will be made up in every town in the county and an organized fight on liquor will be made this year at license court, which will start about the middle of January. A fight will also be made on the wholesalers and breweries.

DOCTORS' SANITARY DUNGEON

More than half a million boys and girls who attend the country schools in Pennsylvania are to receive the benefits of medical inspection this year. More than a thousand physicians throughout the state, under the supervision of Commissioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon are now at work examining these children and reporting as to the sanitary conditions of the schoolhouses where they spend so large a portion of their days.

Of the 2,377 fourth-class school districts in the state 2,201 will receive medical inspection this year. In the five years since the first legislative provision was made for the work, it has more than tripled and school directors who at first opposed it, have come to be the staunchest supporters of the movement. It is well known that backward pupils hamper the advancement of all of their fellows. Thus, in addition to helping the individual pupil, this work has increased the general efficiency of the schools in general.

IF BACKACHEY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat also take glass of Salt before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomachache gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Pity the Man Who Doesn't Advertise!

By GREEN.

"I have an established business. I don't require advertising."

That is the answer of some self satisfied man to a request for advertising. Meanwhile his progressive neighbor is using printer's ink lavishly.

The result is obvious. It's only a question of time. The self satisfied business man soon finds his trade disappearing. His progressive neighbor goes ahead with leaps and bounds. Every business, no matter how firmly established, needs advertising. If it isn't advertised it soon will be in a rut. Don't get in a rut. Advertise.

DR. MELLON PREPARING FOR MARRIAGE TO PRINCESS

Pittsburgh, Jan. 1.—(By United Press.)—If he had good luck after he sailed from New York for Athens some time ago, Dr. George W. Mellon of this city is down in Belgrade, Serbia getting ready in the midst of war for his marriage to Miss Zageria Cabo, said to be one of the uncrowned queens of that devastated little land. Dr. Mellon, twice decorated for his work with the American Ambulance in the Turkish camps of Serbia; first by Crown Prince Alexander and then by the American Red Cross, has gone back to Serbia with another hospital command commission. Dr. Mellon met Miss Cabo in the course of his first hospital work in Serbia. She was not, however, a nurse. Just a visitor. As Dr. Mellon's wife, Miss Cabo will help him in his hospital work, which they expect to continue until the war is ended. Dr. Mellon continued his wooing by letter and cable when he recently was recalled from Serbia by the Red Cross. Miss Cabo's father lost practically all his fortune in the second Balkan War. Dr. Mellon is a graduate of the Medical School of the University of Pennsylvania.

NEW ERA DAWNS IN STATE FOR WORKING MINORS

Act Provides for Health, Safety Welfare of All Minors

Pittsburgh, Jan. 1.—(By United Press.)—A new era dawns in Pennsylvania today for the boy or girl who must toil in mill, factory, store or other industry, when the child labor law enacted becomes operative. The new law contains stringent provisions and severe punishment for their violation. Employers of child labor throughout the state have prepared to comply with the act.

The act provides for the health, safety and welfare of minors. It forbids their employment in certain establishments, restricts their hours of labor, regulates conditions and provides for their education in continuation schools. This last is something of an innovation. It shall be unlawful to employ any minor between 16 and 18 years, unless the child attends school at least eight hours a week. The school must be approved by the state superintendent of public instruction. Children employed on the farm or in domestic service in private homes are exempt from the provisions of the act.
